

CUSTOM LIBRARY FURNITURE

The background of the image is a dark, textured surface. The upper portion shows a brick wall with a small, dark rectangular object, possibly a window or vent, near the top center. The lower portion shows a dark, cracked concrete floor. The text is overlaid on the right side of the image.

One of a kind furniture becomes part of a library's architecture; helping connect its intent to the community and support the organization's people, presence, and services for years to come.

Worden Custom Furniture is your connection to a group of woodworking, engineering, and project masters dedicated only to realizing custom pieces and installations created by architects and interior design professionals.

With over 70 years of library and furniture history, we understand the subtle art of integrating furniture and architecture...balancing specifications and expectations, harmonizing materials/finishes, and paying meticulous attention to details.

We've furnished thousands of libraries, one at a time. We'd love to help you.
